Comments Regarding Pricing Strategy

No structural problems were noted. No functional or physical inadequacies noted. The subject is in marketable condition. The subject is in average condition for its age and conforms to the neighborhood. There is purchaser demand for the neighborhood based on the average marketing time of 24 days. A 90-120 day value cannot be calculated correctly for this market because that is 3-4 times longer than the average marketing time and it is common for properties to sell for more than list value in this market. Currently there is an undersupply of competitive listings and the market is driven by fair market sales. The subject has not been marketed on the MLS in the last 12 months.
