Comments Regarding Pricing Strategy
Per the subject's Current MLS Listing, the subject is vacant. The subject property is a single family home, which is in overall good condition on the exterior. In addition, the subject's attached Current MLS Listing shows that the subject property is in Good Condition with updating. Comps were selected which are in similar condition, with updating. The distance searched for similar comps was 1.5 Miles and the time searched was 12 Months time. Listing comps were searched for beyond 1 mile, but within similar and competing areas to locate comps similar in GLA and in Good Condition. It was necessary to search beyond 3 months time for sold comps as there were limited recent similar sales in this area. The GLA Tolerance searched for comps was +/- 20% of the subject's GLA. The year built tolerance searched for comps is +/- 20 years of the subject's year built. The subject's lot size could not be bracketed by the comps. However, the sold comps were adjusted for this difference. Inventory is increasing, and demand is decreasing within the subject's market area. REO/SS are less than 1% of recent sales and listings in this area. The subject's bedroom/bathroom count is unique, and there are very few good condition comps in this area which support the subject's GLA. Therefore, the subject's bedroom count could not be bracketed by the comps in order to use Good Condition Comps which support the subject's GLA. The sold comps have been adjusted for this difference. Similar Good Condition Comps within the subject's market area support a Sale Price which is slightly higher than the subject's current list price. The most recent and proximate Good Condition Comps have been used within this report.
