Comments Regarding Pricing S	trategy

Comments Regarding Pricing Strategy

The homes in this area of Central Florida sell more quickly in the spring and summer months, but sales are also helped by the yearly influx of out of area residents during the winter. The subject property should be listed for sale on the local Multiple Listing Service and also placed on the major real estate websites. Other techniques that could be used to help market the property are sales flyers and brochures, open houses, real estate agent caravans, etc. After an initial asking price is determined, it would be best to periodically review the neighborhood values, for example using a Monthly Marketing Report, to determine if a price reduction might be justified to make the property more desirable to potential buyers.
