Comments Regarding Pricing Strategy
5/9/24 -- The subject was in average condition in the previous report. However, per the subject's current MLS listing, it's been renovated and now in good condition. As a result, agent puts the subject's suggested values in line with Sold2 which has similar attributes and is in good condition as well as located in the same complex. Since subject requires no repair, listing it as-is will save the pre-marketing time and limit total amount of capital invested. There's a shortage of comparables with similar living space within immediate area so expansion of sold date, search distance, age and/or value variance is necessary.

Clear Capital Quality Assurance Comments Addendum

Reviewer's Per the broker: " The subject was in average condition in the previous report. However, per the subject's current MLS listing, it's been renovated and Notes now in good condition. " This is the cause of the variance.
The broker's as-is conclusion reflects the market for the subject. Comps are within a reasonable distance, relatively current, and accurately reflect the subject's defining characteristics. Thus, the as-is conclusion appears to be adequately supported.
