Comments Regarding Pricing Strategy
I initially searched for comparables within a 0.5-mile radius, a GLA variance of +/-20%, and a similar lot size, looking back up to three months. However, due to limited available comparables, I had to expand the search parameters to a 3-mile radius and look back 12 months. Given the scarcity of comparables within the subject's market neighborhood, I included a sold comparable with a sale date beyond 90 days from the date of this report. The unique bed count in the neighborhood made it challenging to find similar comparables. As a result, I extended the search to include properties up to 10 years older than the subject property. I also exceeded the lot size variance guideline of 25% and the GLA variance guideline of 20% to utilize the best available comparables from within the subject's market area. Comparable CS1 received multiple offers, leading to a final sale price higher than the list price. For the final valuation, the most weight has been given to comparables CS2 and LC1, as they are the most similar to the subject property in condition and overall structure. The subject's attributes are based on tax records.
